We are a source factory specializing in meteorite-inlaid jewelry, focusing on the fusion of rare meteorites with tungsten/titanium and other premium metals. We provide high-value, differentiated jewelry supply chain support for B2B clients.

Core Advantages: Rare Materials and Exquisite Craftsmanship

Rare Meteorite Materials: We use natural extraterrestrial meteorites (e.g., iron-nickel meteorites), whose unique patterns deliver "cosmic-level" scarcity. This gives the jewelry both collectible value and visual distinctiveness, perfectly matching the needs of high-end market customers.

Our meteorite rings are available in two options: the Muonionalusta meteorite version, which offers superior quality and is slightly more expensive; and the Xinjiang Altay meteorite version, which features stunning natural patterns, offers better value for money, and is more affordable.

AITAY METEORITE

Key Product Portfolio:

Rings: Meteorite-inlaid tungsten/titanium steel rings (including color-blocked, wood grain/antler pattern mixed styles);

Full-category coverage: Customization of meteorite pendants, bracelets, etc., to meet brands' full-line product selection needs.

Craftsmanship Guarantee: We have a mature integrated production line for meteorite cutting, inlaying, and metal polishing. This ensures the complete presentation of meteorite patterns while the metal components (tungsten steel with 9H hardness) are scratch-resistant and wear-resistant, suitable for daily wear.

B2B Collaboration Support: Flexible, Efficient & Low-Threshold Entry

Full OEM/ODM Customization: We support customization of material combinations (e.g., meteorite + tungsten/titanium steel/antler), design styles, size specifications, and brand-specific needs like logo engraving.

Low MOQ and High Cost-Effectiveness: We break the high MOQ barrier of premium materials—small batches are acceptable. Factory-direct pricing cuts intermediate costs, allowing clients to obtain "high-margin" products at better costs.

Rapid Response: Our in-house design and production team ensures short sampling cycles and stable bulk delivery, adapting to the supply rhythms of brand launches, cross-border e-commerce, and other scenarios. Our meteorite jewelry captures high-end customer minds with "cosmic rare materials" and lowers collaboration barriers through flexible factory-side services.
